TOP EVERTON STAR ADMITS GUILT IN NEW BRIBE SHOCK

— From DEREK HILL —

London, Tuesday. — Everton's hard-tackling English international left half, Tony Kay may have abruptly ended his brilliant career and the people the most sorry to hear this will be the Australian fans.

According to the London Sunday newspaper PEOPLE Kay, together with fellow internationals Peter Swan and David Layne, had taken a substantial bribe in December 1962 while playing with Sheffield Wednesday.

They are alleged to have made sure that Sheffield lost to Ipswich in a league match.

Acording to the PEOPLE, Kay and the others have admitted taking the bribe.

All three players have been suspended by their clubs and if police investigations prove their guilt, they will never kick a ball again.

In fact, all three may be subject to criminal proceedings.

As if all this was not a big enough blow for Australia—bound Everton, they may have to undertake their eight-match trip without a regular centre forward.

Their recently purchased young star, Fred Pickering will be wanted by Alf Ramsey for the England team to play in South America.

The other centre forward, Scotsman Alec Young may be transferred to Aston Villa or Turin's Juventus.

Young, replaced by Pickering recently in the first team, may be willing to accept a move.

Aston Villa manager Joe Mercer has been in touch with Everton over the transfer—but so has Juventus.

This rich Italian club still remembers the splendid service it received from another Briton, John ("King") Charles in recent years.

Now they feel that the ex-Hearts star, the tenacious and freescoring Young could be the ideal spearhead of their attack between Del Sol and Sivori.

Luckily for the Australian fans, no other Everton star is likely to miss the tour because of international commitments.

Varied honors

Most of the other great cracks in the Merseyside team are Scottish or Welsh internationals and only stopper Labone has played for England.

However, his recent form has been disappointing and it is unlikely that Ramsey will take him on the close season trip.

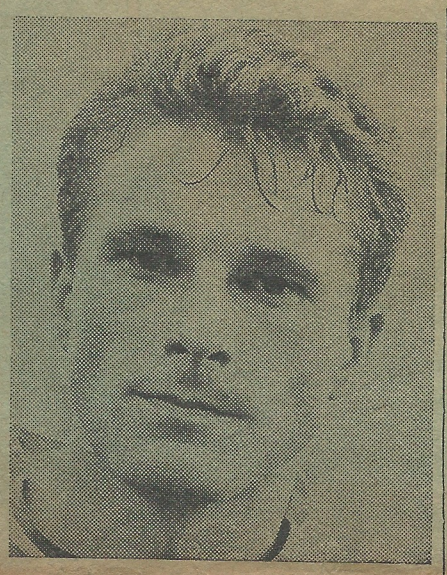
Although in the last few weeks Everton seem to have lost their chance to repeat their 1963 league championship, this season has been one of their most rewarding ever, financially speaking.

Their average home attendances have been over 50,000 —the highest in England.

While many other clubs, including those in the first division, are seriously considering to cut wages, Everton, together with Manchester United, Arsenal, Tottenham and Liverpool, are determined to maintain their "millionaire" tag.

Most of the stars in the Everton line-up earn up to £100 a week in wages alone: Labone, Gabriel, Kay, Scott, Vernon, Pickering and Young leading the mammoth-earners.

It is to be hoped that the Australian fans will get as much enjoyment out of their skill and artistry as do those loyal supporters at Goodison Park, in Liverpool.



Nearly [illegible] Bill Perry of [illegible] ft) and Australia-squad member Peter Hrncir of Prague (right) face the camera in two different moods.

On Sunday their teams, top contenders for the NSW premiership, will clash at Sydney Athletic Field. Who will smile and who will look worried on Sunday night? Read about the Sydney matches on pages 4 and 5.

Victorian squad has class, color and experience

— From Bob Low in Melbourne —

General comments on the 22 players who have been selected to comprise the Victorian squad for the game against Everton and the interstate matches is that it could have hardly been bettered.

L. Debono, the State selector will have a much bigger headache whittling down the 22 to the actual side.

Here is some brief comment on each of the 22 players who have been selected.

GOAL:

Hobson (George Cross). Joined the Cross for a high fee from Moreland. Went to Sydney and transferred to APIA before returning to the Maltese side in Melbourne.

Putkowski (Polonia). In his second season with his club since arriving from Poland. After a poor start he has developed into one of the safest 'keepers in the league.

FULL BACKS and HALF BACKS

Rasic (JUST). A determined player, two years in Australia. Coming back to top form after a sticky spell.

Shepherd (Slavia). Originally a centre half with Airdrie in Scotland, he disappointed in his early games here in that position. Since reverting to full back he has improved a lot.

Sanchez (Slavia). Born at Gibraltar. On Arsenal's books as a junior and won the Argus Medal last season for the "best and fairest".

Cook (Slavia). Plays equally well at full back or centre half. Was with Kilmarnock in Scotland.

Janczyk (Polonia). One of the most polished wing halves in the game. His triple post as captain, coach, and player has had much to do with Polonia's success.

Van Alphen (Wilhelmina). A top player in Holland and one of soccer's gentlemen. Has represented Victoria on several occasions.

Rice (JUST). Was with Footscray until their amalgamation with JUST. Consistent displays have rocketed him to the top in the past two seasons.

Micic (JUST). From Zadar in Yugoslavia. In his four years in Australia he has been a number one choice for the Victorian team.

Anderson (Hellas). A barrow-load of senior experience in England with Stockport, Watford and Wrexham, he has strength, mobility and drive.

MacPherson (George C). A brainy player and a comparative newcomer to Melbourne who has soon made his presence felt.

FORWARDS:

Kowalec (Polonia). A top class winger whose speed and simplicity makes his game tough for opposing defenders

Jurecki (Polonia). One of the best centre forwards in the game and probably the best utility forward in Australia.

Zientara (Polonia). Forty-odd caps for Poland speak for themselves. Still very much a force in soccer despite his age.

Jankowski (Polonia). Another player with many caps for Poland. Although nearing the veteran stage he is still the best technical player in Victoria.

Stankovic (JUST). "Will of the Wisp", tantalising player who likes the gallery but is a matchwinner with his individuality.

Mladenovic (JUST). The quiet type of inside man who isn't seen a lot but can be pretty effective. One of the best club players in the game.

Goldie (George Cross). Impressive displays in two night soccer games after his arrival from Scotland stamped him as a player with a future. The 21-year old redhead has been closely marked of late.

Campbell (George Cross). Was the sole shining light in George Cross attack last year when he won both the SPORTING GLOBE and Gilbeys Awards. His form is well below par this season, so far.

Adam (Hellas). A wealth of first class experience with Aston Villa, Luton, Stoke and Falkirk for 10 years equips him better than any player if he is finally selected to play against Everton whom he has opposed countless times in his career.

Millar (Juventus). A tenacious, fetch and carry type inside forward who can shoot with accuracy at goal.

FOUR MORE IN KELLY GANG

Four players have been added to Jim Kelly's Australian squad, now in preparation for the two matches against Everton next month.

They are Croatia captain-coach Eduardo Massey, South Coast fullback Pat Woods, who recently returned from England where he played half a season with third division Colchester City, and the Victorians Bill Cook, Slavia, and V. Mladenovic of JUST.

The Australian squad now contains 15 NSW players and eight Victorians.

The selection of Slavia veteran Bill Cook is the only surprise as Mladenovic and Woods had appeared certain of selection in the original squad.

The Australian squad trained in Sydney this week and Kelly is expected to announce the names of the final 16 players early next week.

YUGAL IN DANGER OF LOSING FOUR PTS. ON PROTEST

APIA have lodged an official protest over an allegedly uncleared Yugal player, Obran Dragovic.

They claim that Yugal fielded Dragovic against APIA while the player had no proper clearance.

Dragovic played for Yugal on April 5 when they defeated APIA 2-0.

In their protest APIA pointed out that to the best of their knowledge Dragovic had never been cleared by the Yugoslav Association to play in Australia.

Inquiry sought

Club secretary Bob Walker has written to the NSW Federation asking for an immediate inquiry into Dragovic's eligibility to play in Australia.

If the Federation finds that Dragovic does not have a proper clearance it will mean that Yugal will lose the two points gained by beating APIA.

In that case Yugal would be in danger of also losing the two points gained after their 4-0 win over Pan Hellenic, when Dragovic was again in the team.

If the international practice were followed, the two points in both cases would be awarded to the defeated opponents with a 0-0 score.

It is only in Italy that matches won by protest are awarded a 2-0 score.

Yugal, however, are adamant that Dragovic requires no clearance to play in Australia.

A leading official said yesterday that Dragovic never played in any organised competition in Yugoslavia.

"Dragovic only played for a University in Montenegro", the official said.

"We made him sign a statutory declaration to that effect when he first joined the club six weeks ago.

"We are satisfied he is telling the truth and consider him legally cleared to play anywhere in Australia."

The 25-year-old Dragovic spent two years at the Bonegilla migrant camp before walking into a Yugal training session at the start of the competition.

NSW president - chairman Ben Nathan told SOCCER WORLD yesterday that this was a matter for the Australian Federation.

Ben Nathan, however, thinks that Yugal are in the clear if they can prove that Dragovic was never registered for an overseas club.

According to the Federation president there are some 200 players in NSW who have never been cleared officially.

MAY 16 IS SOCCER'S DAY

Last week a colleague, writing in a Sydney newspaper, made what at first glance looked like a sensible suggestion.

Why, he said, couldn't the rulers of soccer and rugby co-ordinate their timetables so that fans might see the Everton v. Australia soccer clash and the City v. Country rugby friendly on the same day?

What he actually suggested was that the soccer match should start early, say 1 pm., enabling people to flock over to the neighbouring Cricket Ground to watch the rugby tie.

While the basic idea is certainly an intelligent one, it has one flaw.

The writer, possibly motivated by age-old instinct, does not suppose for one moment that the Everton match may be more important and certainly better attended than the annual rugby friendly.

It doesn't even occur to him to suggest that on that day in question rugby should fall into line with soccer, thus starting its game early.

We would be more than surprised if the Everton match did not outdraw the rugby clash by about two to one.

At a rough guess the respective crowds anticipated are 40,000 and 20,000.

And yet soccer is expected to play second fiddle once again, especially on such a gala occasion.

It is unlikely that more than a few hundred attending the Everton match would care two hoots whether they see the City v. Country rugby tie.

On the other hand it can be assumed that at least a few thousand hardened and devout rugby fans would be interested, perhaps out of curiosity, to "have a bash" as soccer spectators.

But even this is unimportant; never mind the 20,000 or 40,000 gates.

As a matter of principle on May 16 soccer should get the box seat in Sydney sport.

Surely nobody suggests that a visit by the 1963 English champions in the world's most popular sport is less significant that a very ordinary rugby game between players fans see week after week in different jerseys?

BIG CLUBS OF BRAZIL MAY BREAK WITH CBD

Chaos and anarchy appear to be rampant in Brazil not only at governmental level but also in sports administration. However, in sport at least the ruling body, CBD, takes a firm stand from time to time, even if some prove to be unpopular.

This all-embracing and omnipotent sports body, Confederacao de Deportes, recently handed down some stiff fines to leading soccer clubs for various breaches of rules.

All clubs concerned violated the CBD's code of rules, if not ethics, thus "endangering the reputation of Brazilian sport as such".

What did these clubs do and what was their fine?

Vasco de Gama (Rio) toured Europe without a CBD-approved manager — suspended for 90 days from international matches.

America (Rio) failed to take a CBD-designated journalist with them on a tour — suspended for 65 days from internationals.

Bahia (Sao Paulo) played a friendly against Dynamo Moscow while in Europe and without CBD permission — 30 days suspension from internationals.

Botafogo (Rio) also failed to take away a reporter for the trip — fined 10 million cruiseros: some £4,800.

The big clubs, dependent on internationals for their revenue, feel they have been hit below the belt and are plotting a revolt.

Rift serious

One important aim of this is to break away from the CBD and form an independent Football Association which, strangely, has never existed in Brazil.

Run by wealthy businessmen, the CBD was firmly in the saddle while things were going right and the country's soccer eleven won two World Cup trophies in a row.

However, Brazil's recent unsuccessful tour of Europe, the decline of Santos and Botafogo and the constant exodus of star players to Argentina, Uruguay and Italy indicate a definite vulnerability in the CBD armor.

Whether such a break will come now or not, most of Brazil's big clubs are determined to press for it in the future.

They want to know what is there to stop them from sweeping away the CBD, this rather archaic old institution if whole governments can be toppled without practically firing a single shot?

SPAIN

Real Madrid became Spanish soccer champions for the fourth season in sucession.

Real, who meet Swiss club F.C. Zurich in the semi-finals of the European Cup later this month, clinched the title when they drew 1-1 with Sevilla.

Although several matches remain to be played Real's lead at the top of the table cannot now be overtaken.

GREECE

Panathanaikos, the Athens club, have virtually won the Greek championship, for the eighth time since the war.

They lead Olympiakos, their arch-rivals from Pireus by six points with another popular Greek club AEK in third place, but 12 points behind, with only three rounds left.

These three clubs have occupied the first three places in Greece for every year since 1955.

ENGLAND

The English magazine, "Football Referee" reports that in 1963 some 5,000 players, professional and amateur, were sent off in matches in Britain.

The magazine poses the old question: are light suspensions or fines true deterrants for players?

A vast number of these 5,000 players got only a caution from the disciplinary boards.

BRAZIL

The CBD, Brazil's all-sports controlling organization, may stage a club tournament to celebrate Rio de Janeiro's 400th anniversary.

President Jao Havelange would like to invite champion clubs of Rio, Sao Paulo, Uruguay, Argentina, Spain, Italy, Portugal and Hungary in June 1965.

YUGOSLAVIA

Dragoslav Sekularac, controversial figure of Yugoslav soccer, is making an umpteenth comeback at the tender age of 26.

His latest spell from soccer was caused by military service and a serious knee injury.

Now Sekularac resumed trainings again with Red Star Belgrade and is expected to be fighting fit in a matter of weeks.

SWEDEN

Tomas Nordahl is the name of the 18-year old youngster who led the Swedish attack at the recent UEFA Youth Tourney in Holland.

Tomas is the son of famous father Gunnar who set the soccer world alight first in Sweden then in Italy, also wearing the No. 9 jersey.

Brothers Knut, Bertill and Goeste also represented Sweden.

Alexander's "ragtime band" unlikely to strike tune

— From BOB LOW in Melbourne —

Polonia and JUST should retain their leading positions when they come to grips with league babes Alexander and Triestina at the weekend.

But George Cross, with only one win under their belt, face another tough game when they play Wilhelmina at Elsternwick Park.

At Olympic Park on Sunday the South Melbourne Hellas v. Juventus game is preceded at 1 p.m. by an attractive first division pairing, Makedonia v. Dandenong.

Alexander v. Polonia at Olympic Park Saturday

"Alexander the Great"— or not so great.

Irrespective, this will be their biggest test so far and they can hardly feel optimistic about the outcome. . . .

However, the Greek boys aren't a write-off in the State League and they have some excellent material in Service, Glennie, Michaelidis and Spiridakis.

But their shooting leaves a lot to be desired, and they lack height in attack.

Polonia, on the other hand are as near to perfection as can be in the State League— but not flawless by any means.

With Dudon, Kowalec and Zientara in top gear plus many more big names and experienced players, they should carry too many guns for Alexander and run out comfortable winners.

SM-Hellas v. Juventus at Olympic Park Sunday

With both sides on the "up and up", Olympic Park should have the biggest crowd of the 1964 season.

And the crowd should get plenty to shout about with the faster and trickier Hellas trying to outpace the more methodical but slower Juventus.

Anderson, recovered from his ankle injury, could be back in the Hellas side possibly in defence where they are still a bit lopsided and erratic.

Juventus, solid in defence, will rely in attack on the sharpshooting Millar and Donlevy.

This game should be a thriller with the result in doubt until the last minutes.

Hakoah v. Melbourne at Middle Park Saturday

The improving Hakoah, if they can curb and check goal scoring centre Malloy, should gain their first league win against Melbourne.

But it won't be easy and the Middle Park side can't be complacent.

If Chaldi, who was injured last week, is fit to resume new centre, McIvor can rely on good service and the newly arrived Scot should be much fitter than he was in his first game.

Melbourne are struggling to place their side to the best advantage and with many changes week after week they are finding it hard.

JUST v. Triestina at Schintler Reserve, Footscray — Saturday

JUST should outmatch and outclass a Triestina side which has fighting spirit and dash but little else.

The Footscray line up, seldom changed except for injury, has all the confidence in the world and Mladenovic and Blue at inside forward are at the moment the most prolific scorers in their positions in the league.

Triestina have promise in a few positions but this won't be enough to upset the balanced and purposeful JUST.

Lions v. Slavia (Probably at Montgomery Park, — if ready) Saturday

Former Slavia coach, John Hemmerling now with Lions should be able to size his former team up.

But he may have an outsize headache trying to put the skids on the Port side who are playing well in the outfield.

If Slavia can match their teamwork with average finishing they should, with players like Auchie, Cook and Harper, run out ultimate winners.

Lions are yet another side which lack sufficient class to make them a real force and are missing Tony Vella, now coach of JUST, especially as a player.

George Cross v. Wilhelmina at Elsternwick Park Saturday

Baulked by odd goal defeats in their last two games George Cross are struggling to gain even one point— changed days for the Maltese, indeed.

At Elsternwick Park against Wilhelmina they will hold no ground advantage and they may find the stubborn and determined Dutchmen a handful.

But George Cross, despite their losses, are playing reasonably well even without first team players Hodgson and Gibb who are both on the injured list.

Wilhelmina are in similar straits to the Cross.

They haven't so far struck a steady combination who have hit it off and they, too, have had their share of injuries.

George Cross should get back on the rails with a win.

Glamor sides fight for tough wins in League

Polonia and JUST, after being in arrears, fought back to scrape home with odd goal wins over George Cross and Wilhelmina respectively last week.

Polonia v. G. Cross 2-1

Two goals in two minutes, in the middle period of the first half by Kowalec and Katolik put Polonia in front after being behind.

The Maltese, true to their most recent form went into the lead with a good goal by right winger Campbell after six minutes and until Polonia's scoring burst were on top.

Kowalec for Polonia and Goldie for George Cross were the men who mattered.

Slavia v. Alexander 1-0

A solitary goal by Meechan following an Auchie free kick seven minutes after the restart was a poor reward for Slavia's superior outfield play and team work.

But bad approach play and poor finishing almost cost them the match.

Alexander, with their whirlwind moves, stood on no ceremony and they too had many chances which they frittered away.

For Slavia, Auchie and Shepherd shone and Michaelidis and Service starred for Alexander.

SM Hellas v. Hakoah 3-2

Two goals by right winger Pyrgolis in the last five minutes of the game turned what seemed to be certain defeat into a sensational victory for the Greeks.

When first Biro scored for Hakoah this was in keeping with the run of play but Adam levelled the scores soon after with a great goal.

But Hakoah scored again before half time through Stenhouse to give them a deserved lead.

Then came the Hellas one —two which left Hakoah dumfounded and beaten.

Papadoupoulos and Adam played well for Hellas while Rogers and McIvor showed up in a Hakoah side which played well but was unlucky.

Wilhelmina v. JUST 2-3

JUST had a hard fight to retain their unbeaten record and it was in the closing stages of the game that Blue, the former Slavia player headed home to give them a narrow win over unlucky Wilhelmina.

Wilhelmina were in front until Blue's goal.

It only took them 10 minutes to score when Steele netted with a brilliant header.

But two minutes later Mladenovic equalised and this score stood until half time.

Norris scored to put Wilhelmina in the lead again but Mladenovic squared matters when Altena misjudged a high centre.

Melbourne v. Lions 4-3

In a goal-scoring spree a hatrick by Malloy (Melbourne) and a brace by Bevis of Lions highlighted this interesting game.

Melbourne, superior in most departments, dominated play for long periods and Malloy proved himself a goal grabber in his rightful place at centre.

Scott for Melbourne and Schumaker were the other scorers.

Triestina v. Juventus 1-0

Triestina's spoiling tactics paid off in the form of a narrow, surprise win.

Juventus can blame themselves as they seemed over confident until near the end when panic set in.

Triestina's goal fell early in the second half when Cerni headed home from a Cappellitti cross.

The Juventus attacks lacked any sort of imagination and fizzled out without becoming dangerous.

SPOTLIGHT on MELBOURNE

Former Slavia and Croatia coach, John Hammerling was appointed to a similar post with Lions after he had parted company with Slavia.

New coach of Slavia is recent import Brian Birch the former Manchester United player and man of many clubs.

Birch will continue to play as well as coach.

* * *

Peter Aldis the former Aston Villa full back who came out to Slavia four weeks ago is still on the sidelines and can't play for the Port club who are paying him every week but can't use him.

A cable has been received by Australian Soccer Federation from Aldis' last club Hinkley saying he is cleared but until confirmation in writing comes from the Football Association in England, the player must remain on the sidelines.

* * *

New centre forward Billy McIvor who joined Hakoah last week from Scotland was to have been accompanied by another of his countrymen to join Hakoah.

The player, Bobby Kerr, an inside forward (ex-Arbroath, Millwall and Clyde) decided at the last moment to go to South Africa in preference to Australia.

* * *

Jim Petridis, the Alexander centre half suffered dislocated arm and broken collar bone in the game against Melbourne.

Deputising as pivot for the Greeks is M. Kikas, the former Slavia and Hellas player.

* * *

South Melbourne Hellas, sorely troubled with a 'keeper problem since Tsitos was injured in the night soccer, have at last resolved the difficulty in a remarkable way.

In their match with Alexander a couple of weeks ago they were absolutely stuck for a goalie whom they could register and play and noted that Sambakas, former Yarra Park and Hellenic 'keeper of many moons ago was a spectator.

It was learned that Sambakas was still on Hakoah's books but he had not trained or played for 10 months.

A quick transfer and registration was effected and in the past few Hellas games Sambakas, now in the veteran stage, has turned in wonderful performances.

Fair go for Kelly

Strong criticism has already been voiced in certain quarters over Jim Kelly's Australian squad selection.

This is not unnatural but is it warranted?

In the short time, since his official appointment as sole selector, coach and manager of the Australian side, Kelly has covered a lot of ground and no doubt had many headaches.

It's obvious that in such limited time he has been advised and recommended and the shrewd type he is, I'm certain, he has followed up himself with discreet enquiries on recommended players.

Many of the squad he has seen and played against.

As an experienced player himself, he is much better equipped to resolve his problems than those now pouring hate and prejudice over his selections.

If the Australian Soccer Federation had decided to have State nominations instead of a sole selector, there would have been many long drawn-out arguments before a final squad was selected.

The Australian Soccer Federation made a sound move in appointing Kelly but if he doesn't get the undivided loyalty of all States this is bound to reflect in the Australian side's showing against Everton.

So give Kelly a fair go and support him to the hilt.

97,000 SPECTATORS FOR FIVE ROUNDS

The season's biggest week-end attendance watched the fifth round of Sydney competition matches.

Nearly 23,000 spectators attended the six first division matches.

The two Saturday matches attracted 5,800 people and the four Sunday games, including Woonona Oval's fixture, drew more than 17,000.

The Sports Ground clash between Prague and APIA was watched by the biggest competition crowd so far this year: 8,300.

Total attendance for the five competition rounds to date is 97,000.

Although behind last season's final competition week-end average of 20,500 spectators, the attendance up to date is much higher than at the corresponding stage in 1963.

Last season, however, the early rounds were disrupted by incessant, heavy rain.

SUMMING UP THE MATCHES

Displaying their best form of the season Pan Hellenic thrashed Bankstown in a one-sided match. The result was never in doubt as Bankstown were unable to match their opponents in any department. Pan Hellenic displayed no weaknesses, Jim Fernie scoring the season's first hat-trick and leading his forwards together with Brian Smith. Bankstown were sluggish, lacked any sort of purpose. Their forwards, with the exception of Ron Hewitt, just did not exist. They were also unlucky to lose new half-back Jarvis in the 64th minute.

Referee H. Eilerts was flawless.

Crowd: 4,100. — LOU GAUTIER

With five Argentinians in one team and three in the other, four ex-Budapest players in Croatia and two Yugoslavs in Budapest, this match had all the elements of a first class civil war. Accordingly, it was played at a furious pace throughout with no let-up or slackening. The vastly improved Budapest was closer to victory and three times only the post or the bar and once the referee's mistaken interpretation of the advantage rule saved Croatia from a certain goal. However, the Massey-boys also had their chances, especially Hoare. Taking the match as a whole, the final result was reasonably fair.

Referee Sbisa was hesitant and indecisive on more than one occasion.

Crowd: 1,700. — PAUL DEAN

Corinthians were the better team from the kick-off. Their forwards created wonderful chances, taking them six times to annihilate a demoralized Yugal. The score, surprisingly enough, was very indicative of the general trend of play: the "best" defence in Sydney was just unable to hold the clever, fast moving Corinthians. Newcomer Barnes dominated mid-field, allowing insides Bennett Lawson and Vic Ireland complete freedom to shatter the usually competent Yugal rearguard.

Referee K. Lockrey was fair.

Crowd: 2,100. — PETER FLOW

Canterbury were never able to break through South Coast United's tight, confident defence where Pat Woods reigned supreme. Canterbury erred in playing too defensively, never taking their chances. South Coast's talented forward-line ran amok at wing and could have scored more goals had outside-right Brownlie played as well as Doherty, Barnett and Perry.

Referee N. Jones was good.

Crowd: 3,500. — LENNOX BLACK

Prague were not impressive against THIS depleted APIA. Although APIA fielded two fully-fledged defenders in their forward-line they may well have gained a valuable draw as they had a few great chances, particularly in the second half. Prague's defence was solid enough but their forward-line suffered from Tristram's off-form. Highlights of the match were Pat Hughes' lion-hearted display and Ron Lord's amazing saves on the few APIA shots at goal.

Referee A. Boskovic was again excellent.

Crowd: 8,300. — LOU GAUTIER

A draw was a fair result. Both teams staged an exciting finish as they strived for the winning goal in the last 20 minutes. Although four goals were scored, defences were on top for most of the match. Cumberland United wingers Turner and Reynolds represented a constant danger to the Hakoah defence. The star-studded visitors' forward-line, on the other hand, again failed to give entire satisfaction.

Referee F. Woolman was average.

Crowd: 3,200. — LINCOLN WALTERS

An absent third could profit from derby clash

At the top of the NSW first division table quite an upheaval occurred last weekend: of the five teams on six points, only one could win. This team was Prague which has now once again taken the lead.

However, on Sunday they will come into direct conflict with their greatest rivals, South Coast and as a result it is conceivable that the new joint competition leader will be—Croatia.

The bottom of the table also came into motion last weekend with Hakoah, Corinthians and Budapest all grabbing points.

The utter unpredictability of Sydney soccer—or just soccer in general—was again emphasised by Yugal's spectacular collapse.

Now if only Canterbury could gather new strength, one could claim that all matches every week are wide open and a tipster's nightmare.

BY PAUL DEAN

who hears many an anguished club official moan with despair: when, oh, when do we play Canterbury?

Bankstown v. Croatia

BALLOON BURST

Bankstown's balloon has burst with a bang and the hastily appended tag of "glamor team" vanished in the process.

After two disastrous defeats in a row Bankstown may be back where they started: among those worrying about relegation.

Despite the presence of a few talented newcomers, this team has far too many vulnerable spots to aim high for too long.

However, Croatia cannot be certain of a win as in the past two weeks it was a fair amount of luck that helped them to three points instead of only one or two.

The good-sounding Croatia forward line is in poor shape, lacking cohesion and any set pattern of attack.

If they win, they will probably do so on account of a better half line and more skill generally.

Our tip: Croatia.

C'bury v. Cum'land

NO FALSE CHARGE

One cannot help but feel sorry for the pathetic resistance Canterbury, this fine old club, is putting up nowadays.

Almost totally without their stars of recent years, they pin their hopes on raw youngsters and tired veterans.

Unless some very urgent and very drastic steps are taken, they will be doomed before the first half of the competition is over.

Cumberland cannot be accused of playing fanciful, eye-catching football.

Yet, they have strength, spirit and a fair amount of talent which give them their share of the points.

It would take more than a mild reversal of form for Cumberland to drop even one of the points here.

Our tip: Cumberland.

Hakoah v. P. Hellenic

SCOTS GALORE

Never, even at their peak, did Hakoah feel comfortable when playing Pan Hellenic.

On Sunday this uncomfortable feeling may turn into outright gloom.

Hakoah's form so far has been depressingly middling and they are far form having got out of their slump.

Pan Hellenic, on the other hand, surprise one and all by playing good and rewarding football.

Now that their many new Scots began to click, they will be capable of upsetting any opponents.

Pan Hellenic play the faster and more energetic type of game and this should swing the result their way.

Our tip: P. Hellenic.

Budapest v. Yugal

OPEN ACCOUNT

Forget the forms of last week: this should be a thrilling and even match.

Budapest are on the improve and due to open their winning account.

With greater accuracy in front of goal they could have at least another three points.

Yugal's collapse last week was quite a shock and must fill their hearts with anguish.

However, it may have been just one of those inexplicable lapses that come almost any team's way now and then.

The normally strong Yugal defence should be back to its usual form and is expected to hold the key to the solution of this match.

Our tip: Budapest.

Corinthians v. APIA

NO FIRST AID

Any team that scores six times to a Stojanovic-built defence deserves a lot of respect.

They may not be able to repeat this performance again but have proved that Corinthians are not going to take it lying down when the relegation is decided.

APIA's problem are mainly of medical nature, what with several key forwards missing through serious injury.

While they are forced to field such patched-up forward lines, they should brace themselves for further losses.

If at least Watkiss would rejoin his mates, their chances would brighten considerably.

As it is, APIA will have to fight hard to avoid another total setback.

Our tip: Draw.

Prague v. S. Coast

TRUE CLASSIC

Those who remember last year's classic between them at Marks Field will no doubt go back for a second helping.

This clash between the competition leaders will have all the elements of soccer drama and artistry.

Prague, though at the top of the class, have not fully regained their great 1963 form.

South Coast, on the other hand, are constantly improving and getting ready for the bigger tasks ahead.

The additions of Woods and Perry have been of tremendous value and now the team looks more balanced than ever before.

Prague play the prettier and South Coast the faster game and the ultimate result may depend on which line of forwards can convert those chances more successfully.

Out of respect for tradition, we feel history will repeat itself.

Our tip: South Coast.

Face-lifted Hellas won't give in without a fight

— From ALLAN CRISP in Adelaide —

Last year's Federation Cup finalists, Juventus and Hellas will clash in the first division match of the day at Hindmarsh Stadium on Saturday.

Hellas has been improved beyond recognition by the inclusion of Salabasides and Halkias from Sth. Melbourne Hellas, Wallis and Lyster from Orange, Marusic from Beograd and Edwards from Pt.Augusta.

Despite their dismal night series form Juventus are still a team to be feared.

Our tip: Hellas.

AUSTRIA v. CUMBERL'D
Bailey Reserve

A first round loser against a first round winner on a mutually shared ground.

Austria's failure last week can be excused to a degree because they were without Nemetz and Keppl.

Our tip: Cumberland.

BIRKALLA v. ENFIELD
Camden Reserve

Both of these district sides made an encouraging kick-off to the new season.

Enfield sprang a real upset by sharing honors with Hellas and a continuation of this form could see them in the top bracket this season.

With two of SA's best coaches Tom Forde (Enfield) and John Lindquist (Birkalla) directing operations this game should be abeauty.

Our tip: Enfield City.

CROATIA v. POLONIA
Hanson Reserve

Croatia — one of last season's contenders for top honors — cannot afford another morale shattering loss like last Saturday's.

In Polonia they face a side capable of capitalising upon any uncertainty.

The red - and - whites' young players with a night series under their belts are all set to tackle the hurly-burly of a tough league season.

Our tip: A draw.

VICTORIA v. BUDAPEST
Enfield Reserve

Another likely close game in an intensely interesting round.

Victoria were one of the few disappointing teams in the night series but the day must soon come when McKenzie, Felton and Cunnett really "burn" in attack.

On present form Victoria can't be chosen to down the far more consistent if not always brilliant Budapest.

Our tip: Budapest.

Cup finalists only draw in Sth. Aust. league kick-off

Ampol Cup finalists Budapest and Hellas were held to draws by less favored opponents when the SA first division competition began last Saturday.

The three district clubs — Cumberland, Enfield and Birkalla — figured in surprise results.

Enfield v. Hellas 2-2

An exuberant Enfield played determined soccer to set up a two-goal lead before Hellas fought back strongly to equalise.

Hellas, forced into errors by a quick tackling Enfield defence, failed to reproduce the smart forward play which won them the Ampol cup.

Scores: McRae 2, for Enfield; Lyster, Edwards for Hellas.

B'pest v. Birkalla 1-1

A draw was a fitting result as each team "won" one half on the freshly turfed Hindmarsh Stadium.

The second half was a complete reversal of the first with the youthful Birkalla calling the tune.

Scorers: Herczeg for Budapest; Mann for Birkalla.

C'land v. Croatia 5-1

Cumberland maintained their "hoodoo" over Croatia to complete a district team triumph for the round.

The Edwardstown side unwound a convincing team effort to lead by three clear goals at the interval.

Scorers: Stockley, Connell, Falconer, Peterson, Doubell for Cumberland; Frlan for Croatia.

Juv'tus v. Austria 3-0

Still feeling their way after an unsuccessful Ampol series Juventus won through against a depleted Austria.

Neither side scored during a rugged first-half in which Johnny Baines was sent off for allegedly striking Juventus defender Fulvio Pagani.

Scorers: Rusalen 2, Lindsay for Juventus.

Polonia v. Victoria 3-2

Fielding five juniors Polonia fulfilled the promise of their encouraging night series form.

Polonia took 35 minutes to crack the solid Victoria defence.

Scorers: Millar 2, Hamence for Polonia; Cunnett, West for Victoria.

Juventus coach out

Howard Wells told SOCCER WORLD that his appointment as coach of Juventus has been terminated.

The former Cumberland coach joined Juventus at the beginning of the Ampol series but claimed that he did not receive the support of players the majority of whom did not attend training sessions.

Wells said:

"I feel Juventus have used me as a scapegoat for their failure to win the Ampol Cup."

FRENCH COACH STAYS

Albert Batteux, the erstwhile France and Reims coach, appears certain to reject Switzerland's offer to coach the Swiss national team.

The Swiss need a replacement for Karl Rappan and had turned to Batteux who guided France into third place in the 1958 World Cup and helped Reims to reach two European Cup finals.

Batteux is now coaching unfashionable second division Grenoble.

AUSTRIA

Under the new-broom management of team manager Josef Walter and technical director Bela Guttmann, several drastic changes are tipped for the Austrian national team.

One star, earlier discarded, is almost certain to reappear in the team: he is Gerhard Hanappi, 34, a successful Viennese architect.

Hanappi has been in top form for weeks and his chances of lifting his tally of 96 international caps to the 100 now seem good again.

Marston guest of juniors

"The Voice of Junior Soccer" — this is the name of a new, weekly radio session on 2CH, Sydney.

This can be heard every Friday at 6.30 p.m.

Guest speakers last week were Ron Lord and well-known junior coach Bill Vrolyks.

This week on Friday APIA star Joe Marston will be the guest.

The sessions are sponsored by McMurtrie Pty. Ltd., sports goods manufacturers.

Each week they will donate a pair of soccer boots to a junior player.

SZEGEDI, STOKES QUIT BUDAPEST

Nick Szegedi, coach of Budapest-St. George, last Tuesday morning resigned from his post.

A club spokesman said Szegedi's place would be temporarily filled by former Budapest coach Lorinc Hegyes.

The club will decide at a later stage whether to engage a new coach or to retain Hegyes.

Szegedi, according to rumors, will soon join another leading Sydney team as coach.

He is the second member of the State selection committee, after Bill Walsh, to quit his club.

The predictable shake-up in Budapest, following the club's poor results, also resulted in the placing on transfer of Alfie Stokes.

The latest rumor is that Stokes may join Hakoah, APIA or Corinthians.

It is not impossible that Hakoah may offer Baumgartner for Stokes in exchange.

APIA secretary Bob Walker said yesterday that his club was also interested to sign on Stokes.

What adds piquancy to the whole mater is the fact that both Stokes and Szegedi departed the same night.

First Stokes appeared before the Budapest committee and required a transfer which, on Szegedi's advice was granted.

Then Szegedi came into clash with the same committee and submitted his own resignation. P. Dean

FIFTH CUP WIN IN ROW TO HELLENIC

— From our Brisbane correspondent —

No doubt about this Hellenic, they seldom miss a trick when the chips are down in a cup tourney.

Last week they won their fifth Ampol Cup in a row, creating some sort of a Queensland soccer history.

In the final on Sunday Hellenic won 4-0 with consummate ease against hapless and luckless Azzurri, their traditional punching bag.

This was the fourth time Azzurri got beaten by Hellenic in the Cup final—but probably not the last time either.

What happened at the Exhibition Ground was rather simple, really: the Azzurri forwards never once tested Hellenic's goalie Klaebe in 90 minutes.

How they hoped to take out the Cup is a mystery.

The first blow came Azzurri's way before even a ball was kicked.

Inside forward George Shearer tripped while running on the field and aggravated an old injury.

So he was out and substitute Peter Clemitson was in.

At half titme Hellenic led 1-0 and never looked like losing their familiar grip on the Cup.

Three minutes after resumption Hellenic made it 2-0 and then, after Azzurri stopper Pinti had left the field injured, added two more for good measure.

Les McCrea and Lofty Clark, the star Hellenic defenders, had an easy task of keeping the Azzurri forwards at bay.

One of Andy Tsombaras' two goals was a smashing drive from 25 yards that almost tore out the net.

In the Azzurri team only Cliff Sander and Graham Kathage stood between a respectable loss and an avalanche.

The moral of the final was clear for all to see: Hellenic, so often written off and all but forgotten, are still Queensland's top side.

The others may have good days, fine wins and strings of successes, but when it comes to winning something worth winning, put your money on Hellenic.

In the early game preceding the final Merton won 3-2 against Latrobe.

Eric Pattison, the strapping centre forward some Sydney clubs would dearly love to call their own, scored the winner two minutes from the end.

Merton's win was deserved as they came back strongly after being 1-2 down at half time and looking as tough they had kissed their chances goodbye.

Details:

Hellenic 4 (A. Tsombaras 2, C. Kitching, G. McMillan) d. Azzurri 0. Merton 3 (E. Pattison 2, K. Burke) d. Latrobe 2 (S. Tucker, R. Richards).

WHO COMES ? . . . WHO GOES ? . . . WHAT GOES ? . . .

SYDNEY CLUB PATROL

Budapest's recently arrived inside forward Alfie Stokes is reportedly keen to change clubs. Stokes, a former Tottenham and Fulham star, has never settled down in the Budapest forward line and last Saturday was dropped from the team. Several clubs have shown great interest in acquiring the experienced Stokes, among them Pan Hellenic where coach Frank Hearn remembers well from his Crystal Palace days just what this fine red-headed ball player can do when in top form.

Conducted by EINAR PERSEN

According to a strong rumor, Hakoah intend to send player-coach Matt Woods back to England — for more players. Woods would go at the end of April for a lightning 10-day visit with the mission of signing on a few talented youngsters.

* * *

Cumberland have placed Neil Townsend on transfer at his own request.

* * *

Bankstown full-back Stuart Devlin will be out because of stomach ulcers for the rest of the season.

* * *

The Sydney Austral reserve team includes five players between the ages of 15 and 16. Star youngster is Chris Horne, son of a club committeeman, who last week scored both Austral's goals against Granville-AEK.

* * *

Prague fans can now obtain new club badges from any committeeman at 5/- apiece.

* * *

If you think that Eleftheriadis is a hard name to pronounce what about Hatzieleftheriou . . . the player from SM-Hellas Pan Hellenic want to swap for Eleftheriadis.

* * *

Corinthians' new centre-forward Peter Barnes who arrived last week with his wife and two sons is the "general" Corinthians needed in their forward-line. Barnes played for Tottenham reserves for three years and also spent three seasons with Bristol Rovers. He had a two-year spell away from soccer before joining Glastonbury and Taunton, both non-league clubs.

* * *

Here's great news for APIA fans . . . Lively forward Johnny Giacometti will resume training in six weeks and Willy Sinclair in three weeks. Both have made quicker recoveries than expected.

* * *

Cumberland United are delighted that centre-forward Jimmy Richardson interrupted his honeymoon to play against Hakoah last Sunday. Richardson scored the team's first goal.

* * *

A charity soccer match will be played at Jubilee Oval, Kogarah, on Sunday afternoon to raise funds for the "Preserve your eyesight" appeal. Radio, TV and stage personalities will take part in the match including Chuck Faulkner, Col Joye, Brian Henderson, Terry Byrne and Johnny Devlin.

* * *

Brian Tristram's lack of form is due to a painful groin injury which is preventing him from stretching out and displaying his usual dynamic opportunism.

Promising 17 - year - old junior Martin Lissing has transferred back from Pan Hellenic to Hakoah. Lissing last week scored two goals in an impressive return to his former club.

* * *

Former Bankstown half-back Archie Reid who "retired" at the start of this season wants to play again. Bankstown would like to exchange Reid for a fullback as they have many good halves.

* * *

Prague will try out a new ball with black spots in their match against South Coast United on Sunday at Marks Field.

"We got through quicker than I thought—I can play if you want me!"

* * *

John Miller, a fully qualified English coach is interested in assisting in the development of juniors in Australia. Miller was an instructor in schools and junior clubs in Britain. He can be contacted at UW 5789.

* * *

Brian Heward, a 28-year-old Englishman from Lincoln City and Scunthorpe United, is still waiting for his passage to Australia to join Bankstown.

* * *

Corinthians will be further strengthened when former Arsenal left winger Gordon Nutt arrives in a fortnight.

* * *

Canterbury have transferred Drago Zivkovic to Blacktown-BSK which is rapidly becoming, on the field at least, a predominantly Yugoslav club.

Sutherland are up in arms at the red tape imposed by the Federation over their appeal over the transfer fee of Sam Cucitti, the former Balgownie player. Cucitti has a £200 transfer fee on his head which he says is preposterous since he claims he was never paid by his former club. Sutherland sent in a letter five weeks ago, are still waiting for a reply. . . .

* * *

Doug Lapwood has hit the form which gained him representative honors for New Zealand. Corinthians bought Lapwood from Cumberland for a mere £60 and he is proving the buy of the season.

* * *

Former Pan Hellenic goalie Jim Hatzis was married a few weeks ago. Hatzis will spend his honeymoon overseas and will be away for three months.

NSW SECOND DIVISION

Ambitious Blacktown may shock Granville on Sunday

Granville-AEK have broken away from the rest of the field in a very interesting second division competition.

Polonia-NS moved up to second place following their vital win against Marconi, who now drop to third place but with the same number of points as Polonia-NS.

Polonia-NS were untroubled to beat Marconi 4-1, clearly demonstrating that the newly promoted Southern Districts team's prominent position on the ladder is due to an easy draw rather than depth of talent.

Blacktown-BSK, the other team with seven points, confirmed that they will be a force to be reckoned with this year, and so they should with the money and effort which has gone into strengthening the side.

Their win over Wollongong Olympic puts the provincials out of the race for promotion, which now seems to be restricted between Granville-AEK, Polonia-NS and Blacktown-BSK.

Melita Eagles' shock 0-2 loss to Manly is a severe setback to their hopes.

They now seem doomed to play their traditional middle-of-the-table part in the competition.

Despite Manly's fine win at their lucky hunting ground of Lambert Park, they are still at the foot of the table, on goal average, as Thistle beat Western United 4-3.

Sutherland's 6-3 victory over Concordia was another surprise result.

Granville-AEK: Guggemos; Shugg, Beencke; McLelland, Lorenzutta, Creely, Yiasaumi, Scott, Tran, Tsombaras, Lindsay.

Crowd: 200.

BLACKTOWN-BSK 3
WOLLONGONG OLYM. 2

Scorers: Jelisavcic 25, 53 and 63 mins for Blacktown-BSK; Soldi 56 min, Burns 88 min for Wollongong Olympic.

Blacktown-BSK: Moffatt; Ostoic, S. Melinz; Milenkovic, Zeman, Zoratto; Dekany, Zivkovic, Jelisavcic, F. Melinz, Markovic.

Wollongong Olympic: Delhaas; Isedale, Egbers, Peters, Christlo, Soldi; Burns, Mulbauer, Polonis, Hoogland, Tolhurst.

Crowd: 400.

THIS WEEKEND

Polonia-NS and Wollongong Olympic should have comfortable wins over Western United and Thistle respectively and Manly may gain further points at the expense of dispirited Sydney Austral.

Concordia v. Melita Eagles and Marconi v. Sutherland could result in draws.

Another big crowd should pack Macarthur Park for the round's most important match between leaders Granville-AEK and Blacktown-BSK.

Playing at home Granville-AEK should make sure of both points, thus shaking off another serious challenger.

Blacktown-BSK, however, must also be given a good chance now that they have acquired Drago Zivkovic from Canterbury.

Zivkovic and Jelisavcic will be a constant threat to Granville's defence in what promises to be a thriller.

Welsh star for Hakoah

Former Welsh international fullback Trevor Edwards is expected to join Sydney Hakoah in about two weeks.

Edwards, aged 28, is a regular member of English second division team Cardiff City.

His present team-mates include such famous stars as John Charles and Ivor Allchurch.

Edwards at one stage captained the Welsh under-23 team.

Later, in 1958, he was capped several times for the full Welsh side.

The trimly built Edwards, rated as the best full back in English second division, is one of Sydney's highest paid stars.

He will arrive by air together with his family.

These called-off games after showers make us look "sissy"

"... Oh no, don't let the rain come down ..." could be the theme song of Sydney players and fans who are becoming more pre-occupied with cloud formations than with the form of teams.

Last Wednesday week two Federation Cup matches were called off only about an hour before kick-off.

The reason for it was a heavy shower that fell at 4 p.m. and allegedly "ruined" the surface of Marks Field.

However, by 6.30 p.m. the rain stopped and by 7.30 p.m.,—the scheduled starting time—there were more stars on the sky than Sydney teams ever have the hope of signing.

Despite many a bitter lesson in the past, the Federation still has no firm policy on the suitability of grounds.

All decisions are ad hoc, made in the spur of the moment, frequently influenced by Napoleonic groundsmen who regard their pitches as though they were delicate china shops.

If they called off matches in England on account of a brief shower, the league season would not finish in three years.

The Federation should be especially thoughtful about these cancellations when a team from the South Coast is involved.

As it turned out, South Coast United came all the way to Sydney for nothing because of a hurried and rather ill-conceived decision to postpone the ties.

No doubt, the Federation wants to ensure the financial success of the series and one of their motives in calling off the games is the fear of small attendances.

This problem will be with us so long as some kind of covered stand is not erected at the ground.

This, however, seems to be well beyond the means of the City of Sydney, owner of the ground.

After all, it would cost a few thousand pounds and the poor, poor Council is down to its last few millions...

"Horror" team

The Australian squad selected by Jim Kelly is much weaker than the NSW team.

The NSW team would beat Kelly's "gang" any day with two goals' start.

How players like Salisbury, Hrncir or Tommy Anderson of Victoria could have been picked is the biggest mystery of the decade in Australian sport.

Instead of Kelly's "horror" team I would field this team against Everton and am ready to bet that it would not lose by more than two goals: Lord; Falzon, Rice; Micic, Stojanovic, Dunaj; Krgin, Massey, Jurecki, Scheinflug, Schauman.

Peter Tolosa

Ball-players needed

I cannot agree with Australian selector-coach Jim Kelly's views that the Australian team to play Everton must only include hard, tough English-type players.

In my opinion the only chance Australia has of giving Everton a run for their money is to field 11 ball-players who may cause the dour Britons a king-size headache.

What's the use of fielding a team of second or third division overseas players who will never be able to reach anything near Everton's standard?

My Australian team would be: Iglesias; Falzon, Ackerley; Lazarevic, Stojanovic, Dunaj; Adam (Vic), Massey, Jurecki (Vic), Baumgartner, Gauto.

Wants early match

I was appalled to learn that the Federation will not stage early fixtures to the NSW v. Everton match on May 2 at the Sydney Cricket Ground.

It's all very well to have community singing, massed bands and precision marching, but what about those hardy souls who will enter the ground when the gates open?

Are they expected to just sit—or more likely stand—and read a book or turn their thumbs because soccer officialdom wants to present something "new" to the public?

I feel that the cancellation of an early match is a big blunder which is certain to backfire on soccer officials.
